

Oh My, Just Another Day!

TWO BORN ON NEW YEARS DAY. The first babies in Arlington born at Symmes hospital arrived at 7:27 and 3:32 on New Years Day. On the left is Mrs. John Edgar of 119 Woodside lane with her son born at 7:27 a.m. and on the right is Mrs. Thomas Murray Jr. with Susan Louise born at 3:32 p.m. Delighted with the atmosphere of her new surroundings is Mrs. Edgar's son weighing in at 7 lbs. 11 ounces. Susan Louise weighed 8 lbs. 6 ounces. She seems to be relaxing in the limelight apparently bored with the situation and asking, when is bedtime.

COLLINS CORNER

A new year has started and it's another season for the Monday morning quarterbacks. These are the folks who can tell you why a team won, why they lost, or any other subject after it has happened. They are everywhere, and they hire and fire at will. Some of the real great experts never attend a sporting event, but they sit home and watch T.V. and come up with the right dope. They enter all fields including politics, even though they never attended a Town Meeting, visited our legislature sessions, or take any interest in the community in which they reside. Their slogan is 'throw the rascals out'.

In sports the managers and coaches are all 'bums' and should be fired if they do not come up to their pet theories. The counterpart of the Monday morning quarterback is the college alumnus who masterminds the athletic affairs of his Alma Mater. This type is really something to behold.

The majority of these fellows never made their letter when in college, but have done quite well in the business world and they really strut their stuff. A College Coach never realizes how many bosses he has until he starts to lose, and then they come running in all directions yelling, 'What we need is a new Coach'. And over the years they have fired and hired coaches all over the country.

They become real experts, especially in football, where if they were coaching, their favorite play would be a long incompleting forward pass. For many years a group of football coaches would gather at the Hotel Lenox the night before the B.A.A. indoor track meet. And they would sit well into the night discussing their one pet subject, as only a football coach can do.

One such evening two coaches of two Ivy League teams were having a rather heated discussion. One had been coaching his team for quite a

The claim to having the first born baby in Arlington belongs to Mr. and Mrs. John Edgar (Patricia Cassidy) of 119 Woodside ave., a boy at Symmes Hospital. Mrs. Edgar ushered in the new year with a son at 7:27 a.m.

Second honors went to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Murray (Janet Marchant) of 92 Grafton st., who brought the first Arlington girl into the new year at 3:32 p.m. at Symmes.

Mt. Auburn hospital reported the birth of twins to Mr. and Mrs. William Stathopoulos, 88 Milton st. A boy was born at 10:24 and a girl at 10:27 a.m.

A nice start for the new year, a boy, girl, and a pair of twins.

Aliens Report

January has been designed as Alien Address Report Month by Gov. John A. Volpe.

Volpe issued the proclamation on Dec. 27 to help implement the federal law requiring non-citizens to file an annual address report during Jan. at any U.S. Post Office or Immigration office. He urges all citizens to encourage every alien within the area to report his address before Jan. 31.

The non-citizenship population in the U.S. during the past year was 129,082 and 6,505 acquired citizenship in the Commonwealth according to J. Leo Bagley, commissioner, Northeast region of the Immigration and Naturalization service.

New Tel. & Tel. Offices

LOCAL OFFICES of the Telephone Co. at the corner of Prescott and Winslow streets were opened this week. The second story of the building, owned by John Mirak of Arlington, is still under construction.

Rapid growth in the Town of Arlington has forced the telephone Co. to shift its business office from Pleasant st. to Prescott st. Thus, commented Les Coit, local manager.

Coit said, "We moved out of our old offices on Saturday and moved into our new offices Tuesday without any trouble for the patrons of Arlington. Arlington has grown so rapidly that we are forced to separate the general equipment from the business office. In the old building we are now installing new equipment. The business office has been completely shifted."

Speaking for the rest of the building, outside the business office, the owner, John Mirak said, "We expect the building to be completed by May 30. We are waiting for a shipment of marble that is due from Italy, which should arrive in March or April."

Yet to be finished are the landscaping, marble finish on the exterior and interior, final electrical

Dumping Site Is Still Under Fire; Garbage Service Complaint Filed

'DUMP' SITE
A 10-page report to a letter issued by Supt. of Public Works O'Hara was issued at the Selectmen meeting Tuesday night by Frank Lansing.

Lansing took the arguments of O'Hara point-by-point and answered them. He not only spoke of the sanitary fill area but also brought plowing and street cleaning into the picture. Several photographs were shown to Selectmen demonstrating the cleaning of some streets and the neglect of others.

Lansing lashed out in his report by referring to Section 9 of the zoning by-laws. This law states that no premises or building or part thereof "shall be altered, enlarged, reconstructed or used under conditions designated for any purpose which by the emission of gases, chemicals, offensive odors, the causing of noise, or by increasing the risk of fire, would be dangerous to public health or safety, and for any purpose harmful to health, safety, morals, or welfare of community or property."

Lansing then stated that the Summer st. land fill operation is a violation of this by-law.

Lansing said the seagulls had a "New Years Day banquet on the garbage which was still exposed."

Mr. Monahan is to refer the letter to Mr. O'Hara

GARBAGE 'BEHIND'

Garbage collections are running one day behind schedule according to the Town Manager Edward Monahan at the Selectmen's meeting Tuesday night.

Selectmen Arthur Saul, Horace Homer and John Parker, chairman, expressed views that seemed to reflect a laxness in the pick-up of garbage. They said that their garbage from a week ago had not been collected and that some of the other people in town had reported their houses skipped.

Monahan blamed the storm and the holidays for the tardiness of collections and assured the Selectmen that he would look into the matter with Supt. O'Hara. The tardiness of collections came as a surprise to Monahan who thought pick-ups were but one day behind and that an extra Saturday, this week, would clear up the situation.

The news of the delay in the garbage collections focused the minds of the Selectmen on other possible outlets for the disposal of garbage.

A prominent idea was inserted by Selectman Philibert Pelligrini. He suggested the selling of garbage to an incinerator in Somerville, which offered the bidding price of $40,000 for refuse.

This was according to a conversation that Pelligrini had with a workman on the job a short while ago.

River St. Area - - -

New Zoning Sought

A new residential district which would permit the construction of apartment houses of not more than three stories will be created in Arlington if zoning revisions now under consideration by the Planning Board are acted upon favorably by the Board and the Town Meeting.

In general, this area would extend from River st. to Garden st. and north of Broadway to the Mystic Valley Parkway. It is not proposed to change the strip of Business A zoning along Broadway.

Certain portions of this area are presently zoned for Residence C which now permits apartment buildings of five stories and 60 feet in height. The height limitations for Residence C wiring, and some machinery.

"The entire building has been inspected and approved," said Mirak. "A water sprinkling system has been installed in case of fires. Also air-conditioning and heating will come out of the same unit located in the ceiling."

The finishing date of the project is slated for May 30.

Halftime 'Wonderful'

AHS 'Champs' Return; Comments Are Varied

The views expressed by the football team on their trip to the Orange Bowl were ones of dismay over the bad playing of Colorado, thrills over the brilliant defense of LSU and delights over the halftime festivities and the Orange Bowl parade.

Below are listed some of the reactions of the boys to the game and the festivities surrounding the game.

"Dave Walsh — Great game. Halftime show fabulous with different bands and colors. Really worth coming down for."

John Mutty — Different from what I expected, like pageantry and events particularly at halftime. Colorado looked very bad because of mistakes it made, like high school.

Paul Campbell — Game very good and exciting. Thrill just to be at Orange Bowl game, particularly halftime show. School spirit great as expressed by the Colorado band.

Don Tedford — Halftime activities great. Good game.

Charlie Paris — OK. Not up to expectations. Game not as exciting and players not as big as believed. Defense by LSU tremendous.

Nick Piccolo — Best men much bigger. Not as much action as expected. Enjoyed it very much. Halftime parade tremendous.

Dick Van Valkenburg — Terrible game. Too one-sided. Orange Bowl beautiful. Service at concession stand poor. Like place very much.

Bob Arena — Liked it

LIVING with your HEART

A COMMUNITY SERVICE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS HEART ASSOCIATION

What relationship has the stress of our times and our lives to heart disease?

Nobody is quite sure, although many noted physicians point out that stressful living has been the lot of man since the dawn of time.

Cardiologists do agree, however, that peace of mind promotes physical as well as emotional health, and urge upon their patients an existence as tranquil as circumstances will allow.

In this spirit, "Living With Your Heart" offers this excerpt from the philosophy of Max Ehrmann, in the hope that it will bring to our readers a fresh and helpful viewpoint for the year 1962:

"Go placidly amid the noise and the haste, and remember the peace there is in silence. As far as possible without surrender, be on good terms with all persons."

"Speak your truth quietly and clearly, and listen to others; they, too, have their story. Avoid loud or aggressive persons; they are vexatious to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain or bitter, for there will always be greater and smaller persons than yourself."

In 1892 she became the bride of the late Charles H. Doty, also of Arlington. The family lived for many years on Massachusetts ave. next to the First Baptist church; subsequently at 44 Academy st.

She is survived by Mrs. A. W. French of Hingham, James Russell of Ipswich, Bradford of Tampa, Fla., and Charles H. Jr. who made his home with his mother, and several grandchildren.

Interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. Contributions, in Mrs. Doty's memory, may be sent to the steeple fund of the Pleasant Street Congregational church.

JOHN J. SPADARO

A solemn requiem high Mass for John J. Spadaro, 60, of 91 Beverly rd., president and treasurer of Malden Motor Parts, was celebrated yesterday morning at St. Agnes' church. He

"Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs, for there are many persons whose word is worthless. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is."

"Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love, for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Do not distress yourself with dark imaginings."

"Be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be. And whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life, keep peace in your soul."

"With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world." Happy New Year.

died Saturday at Symmes hospital.

Mr. Spadaro was a member of the Major Parts Association of America, Society of American Magicians, the Elks of Arlington, Lions Club of Malden, and Sons of Italy, Arlington.

He leaves his wife, Olga (Separini); two sons, John J., Jr., of Bedford; and Anthony, of Concord; his mother, Mrs. Mary Spadaro, of Brighton; a brother, Joseph, of Belmont; and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Malfa, of Wayland.

giving him a knowledge of the workings of our town government.

"In my judgment," said Kent, "too often in the past candidates without proper qualifications and true civic interest have by their actions made a travesty of local politics. In all sincerity I invite any qualified candidate to vie for this office."

"I believe the voter is entitled to a choice of good candidates. Those who seek office with the intention of merely conducting a popularity poll do themselves and the people, as well as politics itself, an injustice."

NORTH WIND

Under the frosty pine boughs
Moccasin clad and warm
With my senses all alert
I fight my way through the storm

I meet the winds wild rushes
I face the stinging sleet
As through the aisles of the forest
The Snow Kings armies beat

They come in countless millions
Like charging cavalry
They spread their snow white banners
On every bush and tree

Oh the North Wind gives no quarter
And none is asked by me
I love the moaning pine boughs
As the sailor loves the sea

The birches writh and tremble
As if in mortal pain
While my spirit rides the storm clouds
For I am young again

I have always loved the snowstorm
And storm winds howling wild
Since first in the great Northland
It thrilled me as a child

When my span of life is over
And Earth's scenes are growing dim
May the boisterous loving North Wind
Bear my spirit back to Him

Alfred B. Craft

BROTHERHOOD

We, said the Buddhists, are the one and only right ones
We bring the message of love

No, we, said the Christians, have Jesus the loved one
And the spirit of love anew

We, said the Jews, are God's chosen people
For all our wrongs he has righted

No, we, said the Hindus, are the holiest of all
For we will not kill man or beast

We, said the Moslems, have conquest in our hands
For Allah is on our side

And with this last word they started to fight
For each thought their faith the best.

Then up spoke a wise man from no one knows where
And told them to stop their quarrel

For, said he, each religion is best for each certain kind of people

And brotherhood should rule the earth
From Moslem mosque to Christian steeple

We Can't Hide

If a man can make a better mousetrap than his neighbor "though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door", said the late Ralph Waldo Emerson in an oft quoted remark. We are not so sure however, but that the path might be blocked by makers of old-fashioned mousetraps concerned that the new one might throw them out of jobs.

The fear of innovations increasing joblessness is a real one. Just how serious is revealed by Alfred Steinberg in a January Reader's Digest article, "Can We Get Rid of Featherbedding?". Obsolete rules are slowing the advantages of automation but he finds gleams of hope where enlightened management and enlightened unions have worked out common-sense transitions.

Largely because of fear that automation will destroy jobs, disputes over work rules involved 1,320,000 workers last year, and work-rules replaced wages as the primary cause of industrial strife. Union painters in New York will not use spray guns. Bricklayers prohibit raising the brick line by more than one level at a time. Two stagehands have to be hired for Billy Graham's appearance in Madison Square Garden. Their job is to put one pitcher of water on the platform.

Where genuine fear of automation is involved, the article says, industrial statesmanship is needed. American Motors Corporation has created a profit-sharing plan to give its workers the benefits of increased productivity. Armour & Company has a special "automation fund" to help displaced find new jobs. Inland Steel, Xerox, Standard Oil of Indiana, and Ford teach new skills to displaced employees. Swift & Company give laid-off employees up to $500 in moving expenses if they qualify for jobs in other Swift plants.

This problem is real and growing. It will not go away. In one way or another, it concerns everyone who works for a living, whether at top management level or in the ranks. Automation has initiated a one-way game of musical chairs in which production workers must anticipate startling occupational changes — that are bound to involve the jobs of others in the direction and scheduling of production, stock and records-keeping, traffic, even sales and marketing.

To anyone who says: "This can't affect me," we recommend Mr. Steinberg's article.

Still Living In 1885

Sentiment is mounting on Beacon Hill for returning complete control of Boston police to the Mayor... and we hope this becomes reality.

It was 76 years ago — 1885 to be exact — that the Legislature took away control of the Boston Police Department from the city in an effort to keep the department free of politics. At the time, this was a temporary political experiment but — like so many "temporary" taxes — the experiment never ended.

The Governor has appointed the Boston Police Commissioner since then. The disadvantages of this procedure far outweigh whatever obscure advantages the system ever possessed.

Even before the furore over the current police-bookie investigations, there was an obvious need to restore home rule to Boston, especially with the Mayor having no control over the police budget.

Last year the State Senate killed by a few votes legislation that would have returned fiscal control of the department to the Mayor. In 1962, the General Court should make certain that the Mayor is charged with the complete responsibility for the city's major law enforcement agency.

No one will argue that a Mayor would appoint better or more efficient police commissioners. A Mayor, forced to answer directly to the voters of his city, obviously would keep more of an eagle eye on the commissioner he appoints and on departmental operations.

Mightiest Monarch

The addition of the USS Enterprise, the first nuclear-powered aircraft carrier and the world's largest ship, to our Naval forces on December 20 marks a tremendous advance in the defense posture of the nation.

The further fact that she was rushed to completion nine weeks ahead of the scheduled completion date by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company indicates not so much urgency as the capability of American builders, from the ship's designers to the construction crews.

The eighth Naval vessel to bear the proud name "Enterprise" is not only a formidable aircraft carrier but also a "floating city". More than 1,100 feet long, displacing 85,350 tons, her four-and-one-half acre flight deck would accommodate four football fields. Her eight nuclear reactors, the largest nuclear power plant ever built, develop over 200,000 horsepower to give her a speed of more than 40 miles per hour.

The strategic advantage of such floating landing fields to serve our heavier, faster aircraft anywhere on the high seas should be obvious. Not only sea-faring men, but the nation at large will be watching anxiously to evaluate the strength that nuclear-powered vessels, surface and under-seas, add to the nation's defense. Most significant, such propulsion provides unlimited cruising ranges for the first time in all Naval history.

With the completion of her spectacular builder's trials, the U.S. Navy and the American shipbuilding genius, are entitled to a heartfelt "well done" from all of us on shore.

Shame On The U.N.

Something has got to give at the U.N. It is broke, yet spreads its military wings (on credit) beyond the confines of its charter. Its forces — with the assistance of that one-time champion of freedom, the United States — marched against Katanga in violation of the UN commitment against intervention in any nation's domestic affairs and for the purpose of preventing the self-determination of its people for freedom. As of now, this shameful action appears to have delivered Tshombe, his people and his once orderly, industrious and prosperous land over to Gizenga and his Communist-oriented Central Congolese Government.

And, at the same time, the UN took no action against India's armed invasion and seizure of the four-and-a-half-century-old Portuguese State of India (otherwise known as Goa). Nehru, the "peace lover".

Katanga, in the eyes of the UN, is guilty of seceding from a state it never joined; and Goa — whose elected representatives have sat in the Portuguese National Parliament since 1922 — is convicted of the covetous aggressor's charge of being a colony!

Letters To The Editor

To the editor:

The Master Plan for the Town of Arlington calls for the construction of apartment dwellings in Zone C areas along Massachusetts avenue, Broadway and Pleasant st. to broaden the Town's tax base. Mr. Monahan, the Town Manager, and the Board of Selectmen, are in accord, and favor apartment house construction to help alleviate the increasingly higher real estate tax in Arlington.

There is certainly nothing wrong with this approach. Let's consider an entirely different question — that of apartment houses in areas zoned for one and two-family houses established as such. Consider for example, what future effect the recent rezoning of a plot of land on Spy Pond for apartment house construction might have on the Town's plans.

This plot of land is several streets removed from the main thoroughfare and in the middle of a residential neighborhood. It was undoubtedly acquired by the builder for considerably less money than he would have to pay for a comparable piece of land on a main thoroughfare.

After acquisition, this land was rezoned from B to C with the full approval of Mr. Monahan and the Board of Selectmen to allow the construction of a large apartment project. What will the next potential apartment house builder do? Buy land on Massachusetts avenue? Broadway? Pleasant street? Oh, no! He will look for cheaper land off the main thoroughfare in some residential area knowing full well that if he argues a real estate tax deduction, he will be supported by the Town Management for a zone change to allow apartment construction.

What will the result be? Simple. Spot zoned areas all over town. Dilapidated dwellings on the main thoroughfares that should have been torn down and replaced by apartments.

It seems that Mr. Monahan and the Selectmen have taken the lazy way out. They have sidestepped their responsibilities. Instead of encouraging builders to build in those areas zoned for apartment houses, they have condoned the rezoning of residential areas. This might

THUMBNAIL THOUGHTS

Philadelphia has its noted Racquet Club and, as the CBS documentary, "Biography of a Bookie", showed, Boston also apparently has its own version of a "racket club".

The Communists have a worse problem than we do. It isn't necessary for the city fathers to build a wall to keep half the population of Dorchester from sneaking into Brookline.

What insurance actuaries don't like is the beach show-off who swims out too far, always passes another motorist on blind curves, and has a strong desire to test thin ice.

American politics has its weaknesses, but even the most violent "do-gooder" concerned with corruption in government, should admit its much worse when there are no politics or politicians.

That Man About Town
By MAT

Well, the old wheezes go on and on — and keep winning, otherwise they wouldn't be "old" wheezes!

One that stood up the first time around — and may stand up again — is that School Committeeman Charlie Kent should never run for Selectman, until he completes a current 3-year term.

Kent was elected to the School Committee about four years ago. The next year, he decided to try for Selectman but the Wheezers said this was wrong. So he dropped out. At the time, we agreed partially with the criticism and with Kent's withdrawal, later.

This year, however, is different. You just don't run for a higher office — any old time. When Kent ran for School Committee in 1961 and was successful he had no knowledge that incumbent Selectman John O. Parker would not run for re-election in 1962. Neither did anyone else.

Besides, what do you do? Take a sabbatical year and run for nothing? One of the basic principles in politics is to keep your name before the public — and your body in the bull ring.

This is not an endorsement of Kent by any means. In fact, we will wait a long time before deciding for whom we'll cast our personal ballot. But, we are against wheezes, which seem to work best when they are the most idiotic.

Overheard a housewife comment: "Hope they come for the garbage today. I couldn't put another raisin in my container." The thought may be a bit obnoxious but, during the cold weather and if your trash barrels are out of the sun, why not put the bags of garbage directly into them?

ARLINGTON IN REVIEW

In 1887

75 Years Ago This Week
The Quid Nunc club enjoyed a sleigh ride on Thursday evening and on their return sat down to a hot oyster stew and other refreshments served at the residence on the corner of Arlington ave. and Franklin street.

Thursday evening there will be a double ceremony in Bank Building, when officers of Post 36 and Relief Corps 43 are to be installed. The occasion will be one of unusual interest in Grand Army circles here. A collation is to be served, of course.

In 1912

50 Years Ago This Week
Mr. Charles W. Ilesley of Wells, Maine is visiting his children residents of this town, where he was for many years in the ice business. He finds our town rapidly changing and remarks that there is not a man now conducting business that was in business when he started in, in 1870. Forty-two years works many great changes.

The tendering of the gift of a Town House to our town is to be made at the town meeting next Monday evening.

In 1937

25 Years Ago This Week
For the first time since 1929, Arlington showed a decrease in the number and amount tied up in tax titles at the end of 1936. The tax titles acquired by the town in 1936 totaled $153,489.44 as compared to $156,790.93 in 1935. Until the present moment tax titles had increased sharply every year since 1929.

In 1952

10 Years Ago This Week
If you think you were busy during Christmas, postmaster Joseph Finn reports that from Dec. 14 to Dec. 24, from a special-office set up in the basement of the post office, 1,272,896 letters were postmarked, sorted and dispatched; 39 per cent of this mail was for delivery in Arlington.

In 1961

One Year Ago This Week
A new business survey, containing the first comprehensive figures on spending in Arlington through the first half of 1959 has just been made public. It shows that Arlington retail merchants were able to chalk up a sales volume of $40,678,000 in the year, topping the $38,963,000 of the prior year.

[Correspondence]

To the editor,
Adding my comments to those of Anna Cummings, the attendance at the showing of the film, "Operation Abolition", was a shocking spectacle. These patriotic Legionnaires have tried to do their job. It is regrettable our townspeople did not see fit to co-operate.

Our nation is running into deep trouble and well along the road to Socialism with Communism in the background waiting for the opportune moment to strike. The prospect is a dismal and uncompromising one for young Americans looking to the future.

The people of our town had their chance to see Communism in action in this nation and their attitude was an apathetic one. Our un-winning ways will never overcome the most devilish conspiracy ever to gnaw at the mainstays of a civilized world.

This is the film the "Fulbright Memorandum" with its military gag rules and intimidation program, is trying to prevent our troops from viewing. Our men have been mobilized. They ask only to know and understand the enemy they may be called upon to fight. Not to have their enthusiasm for a job they may be summoned to do, extinguished from the outset for want of essential information necessary for our purposes and survival.

The showing of this revolting display of conduct by naive students, instigated by dedicated Communists and brainwashed professors, was for the purpose of arousing our people from their indifference and lethargy, to the No. 1 subject of importance in America today, and that is the danger of subjugation, with all its horrors, under Soviet domination.

Sincerely,
Isabel F. Murphy

OPEN LETTER

To the attention of Mr. Roens and School Committee.

An answer to your unsolved question, "To build an addition to the High School or have a third Junior High?" would be to follow Lexington's idea of "A Second High School."

The New High school would be used for the juniors and seniors and the present school for the freshmen and sophomores and if necessary an addition to the West Junior High.

Sincerely,
Mrs. F. T. Strachan

"Our Town"

by Barbara L. Horrigan
Under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth W. Sampson, the Arlington High School Dramatic Club is maintaining its reputation for excellent secondary school theatrics.

With the selection of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town", this group set themselves an acting challenge. No scenery and a minimum of props put the weight of the play entirely on the actors.

A very smooth opening performance showed a well rehearsed play. The prop changes in front of the audience were done quietly and quickly. The lighting was equally effective. One of the penalties of doing lights is that they are always the last to rehearse.

The casting of each individual part impressed the writer. Make-up alone cannot age a young actor. It must be done also, by the voice and the body, a technique which most teenagers find so difficult. If any one thing stood out in this performance it was the believability of these mature characters. The staging of the entire play was an addition to this picture.

There was some difficulty with projection when far upstage, particularly when speaking over the choir, but on the whole, lines were spoken with clarity, conviction, and timing, especially the comedy lines. I did find the first act slow, at first.

In attempting to review this large cast, it would be impossible to mention each individual, but I would like to emphasize a few of the highlights:

GARDEN CLUB
The Arlington Garden club will meet on Jan. 10 in Library hall. Following a business meeting at 1:30 p.m., Mrs. Burton H. Rice will give a lecture on the culture and propagation of lilies and will illustrate her talk with colored slides.

The winners of the Christmas Door Decorating contest will be announced.

Just before Christmas, the Hospital Service group — Mrs. Irving S. Marcus, Mrs. Herbert Martin, Mrs.

The ease, confidence and sincerity of the stage manager, Dennis Nolan, in a demanding part; the fine pantomime, concentration and appearance of Mrs. Webb, Pamela Rugg, and Mrs. Gibbs, Sarah Wilkinson; the feeling of weariness and dedication of Dr. Gibbs, John Derby; the comedy timing of Mr. Webb, Richard de Russo; the pathos of Simon Stimson, Jon Hutton; the lovely comedy vignettes of Professor Willard, Richard Ward and Mrs. Soames, Priscilla Reid; the characterization of Howie Newcome, Stephen Stabile; the scene at the soda fountain with Emily Webb, Veronica Gustaf and George Gibbs, Douglas White plus their changes in character later, particularly Emily's last scene; the final act, with its contrast in mood and character; the group of the dead, sitting without moving, an eyelash or change of expression for more than twenty minutes. One almost forgot they were there! Adults would be hard put to beat this scene. The costumes, which though simple, gave the feeling of authenticity, and the truly authentic wedding gown of Emily.

In closing, the final polish of this satisfying evening was the beautiful blend of voices, the soft well-enunciated singing of the choir, and the rich tones of the orchestra in the entracte-concerts conducted by Mr. Richard Laman and Mr. Hassler Einzig.

If this review seems to be mostly accolades, I feel it is justly deserved. An opening night which would make any professional or community theatre sit up and take notice.

George Pappas, Mrs. Frank H. Lansing and Mrs. George E. Rogers — decorated the recreation hall in the Women's building at the Bedford Veterans hospital with evergreen and cone swags, wreaths and table arrangements made by the committee.

Thomas Keating, current events chairman, read an amusing and clever editorial from his own pen berating the trend toward the material Christmas, as revealed in advertisements. With Mrs. Rita Larsen at the piano, the Woman's club chorus sang several Christmas numbers. They also led carol singing, in which the group joined.

Cerebral Palsy

A goal of $175,000 for United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston's annual "53 Minute March" to be conducted on Jan. 14 was announced today by Herbert Connolly, General Campaign Chairman.

"This figure represents the realistic sum we must reach if United Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston is to provide the necessary habilitation services for the more than 15,000 Cerebral Palsied of our Community during the coming year and to support the national research program of United Cerebral Palsy which seeks the ultimate prevention of this vicious multiplier," Mr. Connolly said.

"United Cerebral Palsy's annual '53 Minute March' documents the fact that Cerebral Palsy strikes every 53 minutes, handicapping more than 10,000 children each year for life. But it can strike anyone, anywhere, anytime. Through the '53 Minute March' everyone has the opportunity to help their cerebral palsied neighbors to better, brighter futures," Mr. Connolly declared.

"This year's goal is higher than a year ago due to the fact that there has been an increased case load in our clinics, plus the rapid advance of medical knowledge and professional skills in the treatment of C/P has resulted not only in the upgrading of services and professional skills but also in an increased need for funds to support these services and skills."

On Jan. 14, I urge every resident of Arlington to open their door to United Cerebral Palsy's "53 Minute March", Mr. Connolly concluded.

ISABEL WOOD

A former resident, Isabel Warwick Wood of Portland, Oregon, died Dec. 19 at Portland at the age of 87 years and 11 months. She was the widow of Dr. Nathan Robinson Wood, former president of Gordon College of Theology and Missions in Boston, now at Beverly Farms, Mass.

A descendant of New England pioneer families, she was the daughter of Lt. Colonel William Warwick Bliss, a Union Army officer during the Civil War, and of Abbie Maria Richards. Born Jan. 4, 1874, at Brooklyn, she was educated at Miss Abbott's School, Providence, graduated in the Class of 1892 from Packer Collegiate Institute, Brooklyn, and was a graduate of the first class of the Women's College in Brown University, now Pembroke College, in 1895, and received her M.A. from Brown University in 1897. She was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

She taught at Central High and Hope Street High schools in Providence and in the Quincy Mansion school, Quincy, Mass. She served as professor of English literature and later as Dean at Gordon College of Theology and Missions in Boston from 1914 to 1944. She served for many years as foreign vice president of the Women's American Baptist Foreign Mission Society and as a member of the Board of Managers of the American Baptist Home Mission Society. In 1948-49 she was second vice-president of the American Baptist Convention.

She was a resident of Arlington from 1911 to 1955 and a past president of the

Need For Nurses
The Army urgently needs 1000 nurses and has appealed to the Army Reserves to inform registered nurses, male or female, of the opportunities for service, advancement, added experience and training open to them as members of a Reserve unit.

Recently a poster was distributed throughout New York, New Jersey and the New England states which Arlington Woman's club. She was for many years a member of the Tremont Temple Baptist church in Boston, the First Baptist church of Arlington, and Delmar Baptist church in St. Louis.

She leaves two sons, Nathan Warwick Wood, of Napa, Calif., social work supervisor for Napa County, and William Bliss Wood, of Portland, Oregon, librarian of the Library Association of Portland, five grandchildren, Alice W. Pendleton of Jackson, N.H., Rev. Nathan F. Wood of Braintree Highlands, Mass., Nancy W. Bannam of Norfolk, Va., Signe I. Wood, Sarah G. Wood, both of Portland, Oregon, and seven great grandchildren.

asks "If They Must Go... Nurses, Can You Remain Behind?" With approximately 150,000 National Guardsmen and Army Reservists called to active duty with the U.S. Army, recently, the need for skilled medical personnel is only too obvious.

Greatly needed nurses cannot be drafted. Some, already members of a Reserve unit, have answered the call, but in many cases the nurse positions have been vacant and have had to be filled from the control group of nurses not assigned to units. A shortage of nurses also exists in civilian hospitals, thus making it even more difficult to recruit for Reserve units.

Discussing this problem recently, Lt. Colonel Eileen L. McCarthy, chief nurse, First U.S. Army, pointed out that more civilian nurses would join the U.S. Army Reserve if they realized that they could continue in their civilian occupations while members of reserve medical units. "Only in a national emergency are they called to active duty

Rangers Win, 3-2
John Cabesena's blast in the final second of play enabled the Rangers to nip the Canadiens 3-2.
Barry Wright sent the Canadiens to an early lead on a break-away goal early in the game. Don Vosmer, assisted by Paul Fitzpatrick, scored the first Ranger goal. Bill Murray sent the Rangers out front when he picked up a loose puck at the Canadian blue line.

Charlie Harrington tied it again when he tapped in Tom Calvin's rebound.

Bruins On Top, 2-1

John Alessandrini's goal in the closing moments of the game gave the Bruins a victory over the highly-rated Wings. Bob Unger and Bob Bartholemew earned assists on the tally. Bob Heavren had put the Wings in the lead with a neat angle shot into the right corner. Norby Unger tied the game up when an anxious Wing cleared his shot into the net.

Hawks Romp, 3-0

Goals by veterans Tom Fitzgerald, Tom Walsh and Bill Shea sparked the Hawks to a 3-0 shutout over the inexperienced Rockets. Fitzgerald scored the first goal on a corner face-off pass from Shea. Tom Walsh blasted home a 15 footer. Bill Shea scored the final marker on a break-away. Bob Dwyer gained an assist.

Maroons Win, 3-0

The powerful Maroons were too strong for the young Leafs and rolled to a 3-0 shutout. Dick Butler was the scoring ace for the Maroons with two goals. His second was a bullet high into the left corner. Brian Tihlah and Jim Largentone assisted on this goal. Jim Largentone opened the scoring with another high shot from 12 feet.

COVERING THE U. N.

POSTER CONTEST — Artists everywhere are eligible to compete in a poster contest on the theme of international understanding and cooperation, as announced by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. It is open to anyone over 18 years, each of whom may submit a single entry through the National Commission for UNESCO, in his own country.

In their turn these National Commissions will select a maximum of three designs, to be received at Paris Headquarters of UNESCO not later than February 28, 1962. An international jury for the event will be named by the agency's Acting Director General, Rene Maheu. The first prize will be $1,000 and the second and third respectively $500 and $300, or the equivalent sums in the national currencies of the winners.

MALARIA BATTLE

More than 60 countries have already given firm commitments to issue a special stamp during 1962, the sale of which will raise funds to help the World Health Organization of the United Nations in its campaign to eradicate malaria as a threat to mankind. In making public this fact Dr. Rudolph L. Coigney of the W.H.O. noted that despite progress to date, more than 1,000,000 persons are still susceptible to the disease in 140 countries and territories, in which it takes a fearful annual toll in lives and in economic losses. The International Philatelic Corporation is assisting in the drive, Dr. Coigney added.

LOSERS AND WINNERS

Two teams of Optimist Club members of Plainfield, N.J., held a weight-losing contest recently, and have contributed $53.75, the "cost value" of their lost pounds to promote the five-year Freedom From Hunger campaign of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. Their aim was to dramatize the fact that while many Americans are overweight, more than half of the rest of the world is underfed and malnourished. The Club's check represented the aggregate loss in poundage between the winning and losing teams, plus the price of a luncheon paid by each member of the losing team.

REFUGEE TRAINING

Each year 30,000 students leave school, among the 1,136,500 Palestine refugees cared for by the United Nations Relief and Works Agency. Their ancestors for generations back had known only one occupation — farming — for which no land remained available when the families of these students became displaced persons more than a decade ago. Their fathers, who could not teach them new skills, have subsisted on international aid and the scant incomes they could earn through make-shift employment.

But since 1953 UNRWA has been providing vocational training for a limited number through a center opened at Kalandia, near Jerusalem, and another in the Gaza Strip. Only recently a third flung wide its doors, at Wadi Seer in the vicinity of Amman, the capital of Jordan, where more than half of the refugees live. By the end of 1962 it is hoped to have at least eight of these installations in operation. The goal is 2,500 graduates annually by the close of 1963.

At Wadi Seer 200 boys aged 18 to 20 are enrolled in 12 different courses in three technical fields: electrical training, mechanical trades, and construction. They are learning radio-television mechanics — a well-paid job in Arab Countries as the Middle East moves toward industrialization, telecommunications; diesel plant mechanics; auto mechanics; welding; sheet-metal working; carpentry; plumbing; plastering; upholstery and other trades.

Funds for the expanded program of vocational training have come from many lands, through the World Refugee Year activities that ended in June of 1961. Last September two new schools were opened, one for 200 boys in Syria, near Damascus, and another in Lebanon, near Sidon, for 192 boys.

Alumni of the earlier centers are working in Qatar, Kuwait, Iraq, Libya, and Saudi Arabia, as well as in Jordan. They have escaped from the bonds of refugee camp life, and are also aiding their families.

TRAINING

Army 2d Lt. David A. Houser, 23, whose wife, Andrea, lives in Wilmington, completed the eight-week officer course at the Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky., recently.

A member of Sigma Nu fraternity, the lieutenant is a 1960 graduate of Arlington High school and a 1961 graduate of Norwich University.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Houser, live at 195 Washington st.

EARNINGS LOWER

Preliminary figures indicate New England Electric system gross revenues for the full year 1961 will be about $190,000,000.

Consolidated net income is estimated at $17,200,000, or about $1.32 a share, slightly below 1960 when net earnings were $17,675,000, or $1.35 a share.

President William Webster said the decline was not unexpected and came about largely because of reduced business activity, poor water conditions which reduced hydro-electric output by about 15 percent, increased purchase power costs because of poor water, the need of meeting anticipated peak demands and a five percent wage increase effective April 1.

New England Electric construction expenditures in 1961 will be about $40,000,000. For 1962 it is estimated they will be over $60,000,000 as the company steps up its expansion program.

NETTIE CUMMINS

Mrs. Nettie T. Cummins (Gallagher) passed away Dec. 9 at the age of 89. A senior citizen of Arlington, the late Mrs. Cummins lived at 55 Palmer st. for 59 years.

She leaves a daughter, Madeline and a son Edward G.

She was a charter member of the Daughters of Isabella, St. Agnes sodality. Mass was at St. Agnes.

Under The State House Dome

BY J. J. SMITH

BOSTON — A good politician, like the old Chinese warlords, never destroys the last bridge over which the enemy can retreat — something that House Speaker John F. Thompson should remember before he presses GOP Rep. Harrison Chadwick too far.

The Democratic leader threatens stern disciplinary action against the Winchester Republican for his allegations that some law-legislators have unhealthy ties with bookies — charges Chadwick made on the CBS television documentary, "Biography of a Bookie."

Beacon Hill sources say Chadwick will be invited to explain his remarks to the entire House membership sitting as a "committee of the whole." If this is true, Speaker Thompson may discover that he's boxed Chadwick into a corner and forced him into desperate counter moves.

As anyone familiar with state politics knows, there are records available in the Secretary of State's office spelling out campaign contributions made to members of the Legislature. Literally dozens of legislators have received campaign donations from bookies or other questionable characters — sometimes not even aware of the contributors' background.

Nonetheless, this information is available to Chadwick if he's forced into a corner and would appear to substantiate his charges in the minds of the general public even though, in fact, they'd prove misleading as far as any bookie-legislator tie is concerned.

Then, too, there is a bookie operation thriving in a sensitive location of such a nature that if Chadwick revealed it — and he doubtless can — it might make even the celebrated key shop pale into insignificance.

Bearing this in mind, possibly Speaker Thompson should proceed cautiously in this matter, especially considering the times and temper of the voting public. If he hauled on the carpet too brusquely, the Winchester soton would be in an underdog role — and that's the stuff of which martyrs are made.

Even with the press and public barred from such a "committee of the whole" meeting, reports leaking from such a meeting would be so sensational that it would be almost like having an open meeting.

Chadwick probably wishes he'd never appeared on the television show. His allegations stunned his fellow legislators, Democrats and Republicans alike, and he's in hot water with other House members.

He'd probably like to ease out of the situation if a smooth enough exit were made possible.

Thompson's anxiety in setting the record straight is understandable. He knows, too, that once before Chadwick gave a mighty shake to the corruption tree and the apples didn't fall.

Six years ago, Chadwick created big, black headlines when he charged that a crime syndicate had a $200-million slush fund deposited in a Boston bank for bookies and racketeers to use against those opposing them.

Subsequently, the Winchester Republican admitted his remarks were based upon hearsay and he told the Rules Committee he couldn't prove them. At that time, Chadwick was seeking votes for an appropriation for the State Crime Commission to continue its work.

Two years later, the crime commission went out of existence. In their final report, Chadwick and other commission members alleged that organized crime existed virtually everywhere in the Commonwealth and that racketeers and bookies had protection in several dozens of Massachusetts cities.

Rebuttals from local law enforcement officials served only to cloud and confuse the picture. Then, as now, the ping-ponging of charges back and forth tended to screen the main issue: are policemen "taking from the underworld?"

When CBS televised its "study" of Boston book-keeping nationally, the entire state was embarrassed by the parade of uniformed police officers, "on camera" entering the now-famous key shop in the Back Bay.

Who were the policemen? What were they doing there? Obviously, this calls for clarification. The situation raises questions deserving of answers, for a dark shadow of suspicion is cast over the entire Boston Police Department.

Trying to unscramble the many facets of the police-TV bookie scandal is as difficult as picking up a wet watermelon seed. The main issue — as was the case with the Crime Commission charges in 1957 — was lost sight of in the hubbub.

The issue, lest we forget it, is simply whether or not any members of the Boston Police Department are on the underworld payroll to protect bookies and racketeers.

Rather than directing attention to the prime issue, however, many prominent persons — both in politics and out — chose to chase other chickens while letting this fox remain
